(54) Title: LAMP AND HEADLIGHT FOR SIMPLE MOUNTING

(57) Abstract: A lamp (10) and a headlight with a reflector housing (50) and a lamp (10) are disclosed. The lamp (10) has a lamp base (14) and a burner element (12), said lamp base (14) comprising locking means (20) which project transversely to the longitudinal axis of the lamp. Said means can be locked into an opening (52) of the reflector housing (50) through rotation after insertion of the lamp (10). Said rotation at the same time achieves the electrical connection in that contact elements (30) projecting transversely to the longitudinal axis, preferably planar contact lugs, are brought into engagement with contact means (60) at the reflector housing, preferably contact clamps. Further embodiments of the invention relate inter alia to axially and transversely acting spring elements (40, 42) as well as to a handle (28) for rotating the lamp.
